FURTHER INFORMATION ON LONE WORKER DEVICES

Howlett Health & Safety Services Ltd provides the following information to assist users. However, it does not endorse or recommend any of these products.

Smartphone apps

https://www.staysafeapp.com/solution/#/solutionFeatures/solution/3 Timed sessions, check-ins can be set, panic button options including the option to trigger an alarm discreetly by pressing on the power button. Man-down.

http://www.alertabuddy.com/webmain/alertabuddy/index.php? Most of the functions as above.
https://www.lookoutcall.co.uk/?gclid=CICwm7fI4NACFVUo0wodyqUBkA
http://guardian24.co.uk/microguard-device/ Panic button with additional functionality

Panic devices

http://guardian24.co.uk/spot-gen3-satellite-device

This company has a range of devices including a panic button with communications functions, a smart phone app and an ID badge which doubles as a panic device
http://www.relianceprotect.co.uk/our-service/devices/#pid-364

Identicom is a panic device which when activated opens up an audio channel to a comms centre where the dialogue is monitored, and an appropriate response is initiated.
https://www.soloprotect.com/uk/lone-worker-solutions/devices/#D9

This company has a panic button device as well as a smartphone app http://skyguard.co.uk/

This company markets a panic button which works even if there is no mobile phone signal http://www.lonealert.co.uk/lone-worker-devices/anywhere the company also offers other devices and an app for mobile phones

This company has a range of products including some very much aimed at the security industry http://www.logosoft.co.uk/proof-of-service

The Suzy Lamplugh Trust provides further details of companies who sell lone worker devices
http://www.suzylamplugh.org/Pages/Category/lone-worker-devices